Date: 10/07/2024

Introduction

On July 10, 2024, Shree Naranbhai Lalbhai Patel College of Pharmacy (SNLPCP), Umrah, hosted an enlightening seminar titled "EndNote: Essentials for Thesis Writers." This event aimed to introduce EndNote, a robust reference management tool, to students of M. Pharm of all departments. The seminar, which commenced at 1:30 PM in the Seminar Hall, was coordinated by Mr. Yash Dudhwala, Assistant Professor at SNLPCP, under the auspices of Dr. Ketan Shah, Principal of SNLPCP.

Objectives

The seminar's primary objectives were:

- To familiarize participants with the functionalities of EndNote software.
- To demonstrate the organization of research papers into specific groups, both manually and automatically.
- To illustrate the seamless insertion of citations during the writing process.
- To showcase the generation of bibliographies from over 7000 referencing styles.
- To explain the process of sharing reference libraries with collaborators.

Seminar Overview

Mr. Yash Dudhwala commenced the seminar with a welcome address, underscoring the critical role of reference management in academic writing and research. He highlighted the advantages of utilizing EndNote for thesis writers, emphasizing its efficiency in managing citations and bibliographies.

Demonstration by Mr. Yash Dudhwala

Mr. Yash Dudhwala led a comprehensive demonstration of the EndNote software, covering the following key aspects:

Organizing Papers into Groups:

- Demonstrated the manual creation of groups to organize papers based on various criteria such as research topics, project phases, or author names.
- He also showcased the automatic grouping feature, allowing EndNote to categorize papers based on predefined rules or keywords.

Inserting Citations:

- Participants were shown the ease of inserting citations into documents while writing, with a detailed explanation of EndNote's integration with popular word processing software like Microsoft Word.
- The session included guidance on selecting appropriate citation styles and inserting citations seamlessly within the text.

Generating Bibliographies:

- Highlighted EndNote's versatility in generating bibliographies. He demonstrated the selection process from over 7000 referencing styles to meet the requirements of various academic institutions and journals.
- The process of updating and formatting bibliographies with minimal effort was also elaborated upon.

Sharing Reference Libraries:

The ability to share reference libraries with collaborators was another significant feature discussed. Mr. Dudhwala illustrated how to share libraries securely and manage permissions for effective collaboration.

Interactive Session

Following the demonstration, an interactive session was held, allowing participants to ask questions and clarify their doubts. Mr. Yash Dudhwala addressed various queries regarding the software's functionalities and provided additional tips for efficient reference management.

Conclusion

The seminar concluded with a vote of thanks by Mr. Yash Dudhwala, who expressed gratitude to the participants for their active involvement and to Dr. Ketan Shah for his support in organizing the event. The demonstration was well-received, with participants gaining a comprehensive understanding of how EndNote can streamline their thesis writing process.

Feedback

Participant feedback was overwhelmingly positive, with many appreciating the practical demonstration and finding the session highly informative and beneficial for their academic endeavors. The seminar successfully achieved its objectives of educating thesis writers on the essential functionalities of EndNote for effective reference management.

This event proved to be a valuable addition to the academic experience of M. Pharm students, as it equipped them with thesis writing, essential skills and knowledge that will undoubtedly prove beneficial in their future pharmaceutical endeavors. Kudos to the college for organizing such an informative and enlightening webinar.
